Saw Mill Club's Edge Tennis

Saw Mill Club's exclusive EDGE Tennis is a carefully conceived and developed program aimed at the young player who has committed to the game of tennis. There is limited enrollment, and participation is by invitation only.

The program's goal is to develop players who can compete successfully on the high school, sectional, and even national level.

Developed in 2008 by Zuka Mukhuradze. Numerous EDGE program graduates have gone on to successful collegiate careers including some on scholarships. EDGE players are currently playing in the top D3 and D1 schools. Few of them have found some success on the pro tour. The program is home to some of the best players in NY state as well as the nation.

The program is divided into two distinct divisions.

Prep

EDGE Prep is a carefully designed program for 10 and unders that provides individual attention for stroke technique, drill group instruction that focuses on correct stroke repetition, and specific exercises to enhance tennis footwork and fitness. Invitations to participate are offered after tryouts.

Each session is calibrated to develop the concentration and confidence to play consistent successful competitive tennis.

The requirements include:

- 1) At least one year of tennis experience;
- 2) Ability to participate in competitive group setting;
- 3) Desire to grow through intensive training.

Play

Edge Play is the 'upper-school' of the program and is designed for the more advanced, committed, focused tennis players. The focus is geared to advanced stroke technique, shot selection, strength and explosive movement training, and match play that encourages the players to seek the next level of achievement.

Each two-and-a-half hour session is divided to maximize development of all aspects of the game.

The first half hour is highly intense conditioning, followed by two hours of very specific drills that develop a player's comfort with all the different strokes needed in a complete, competitive game.

The program, as part of the process of developing the mental toughness needed for successful competitive play, also offers match play in which one player can challenge another in an effort to move up the ladder and onto courts where even more competitive play is found.
